Headline:

Rain and showers on Tuesday, slowly improving on Wednesday.

Today:

Rather cloudy with scattered showers spreading westwards across the region. Some of the showers will be heavy and slow-moving, particularly over the Derbyshire hills and during the afternoon. Perhaps remaining dry in Lincolnshire. Feeling cooler. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:

A wet night with showers turning into light rain or drizzle. The rain may become patchy by the end of the night, particularly in eastern parts. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Wednesday:

Rather cloudy with a few residual showers in the morning, mainly in the west, but an improving picture elsewhere, with bright skies and a few sunny spells developing later. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:

Largely dry and bright on most days, but a few showers in the afternoon. Mostly clear with a chance of frost overnight. Perhaps cloudier and less cold on Saturday.
